

Career Development & Interview Mastery for SAS and Local Employed Doctors

Summary of workshop

This workshop combines career development and interview skills for doctors. Led by experienced career coaches and medical professionals, participants assess their work values, interests, and skills using the ROADS model to explore diverse career paths and refine decision-making skills. Participants gain valuable insights to boost interview performance and confidently navigate their career advancement.

They develop personalised career action plans for professional growth, supported by practical exercises and customised feedback. The workshop also enhances interview skills, focusing on confidence-building, effective communication, and strategies for handling diverse interview formats and challenging scenarios.

“An expert presentation on resilience and how to motivate ourselves post-pandemic to a Surgical Congress. Simon has a wonderful reflective style of presenting, thought-provoking and useful to the audience. Fantastic feedback and I would love to have Simon back again to provide more talks. Very professional, useful and highly recommended.”
