

EXPAND YOUR HORIZONS IN RURAL SOUTH AFRICA

ARE YOU A RESILIENT FOUNDATION DOCTOR LOOKING FOR A CHALLENGING OPPORTUNITY TO BUILD YOUR CLINICAL SKILLS?

Then don't miss this once-in-a-lifetime chance to be part of an elite Global Health team in rural South Africa. The Global Health Exchange (Health Education England, HEE/NHS) is offering one-year global health fellowship placements, within English GP training programmes, in rural South Africa. This is done in conjunction with the 2017 GP ST Training application and selection process run by the National Recruitment Office \(NRO\).

This one-year paid out of programme experience (OOPE) will give Global Health Fellows the unique opportunity to work in rural communities and travel to outreach clinics. You will also work independently with a team of nurses while dealing with HIV/Aids, trauma, infectious diseases, obstetrics, anaesthesia and internal medicine.

OTHER BENEFITS INCLUDE:

- Future opportunities for global humanitarian work
- Competitive salary
- Extensive support with the visa application, organisation and planning of your experience

Watch this video for a glimpse of rural health in South Africa

Please check whether you are eligible for the programme on the NRO site

To learn more please visit <http://gprecruitment.hee.nhs.uk/Recruitment/GHF>

"It's very varied work. It's like being an augmented GP – you get to do a lot of practical procedures and if you have interest in something there's capacity to try to develop it. It's very good for learning because you have to be confident in your decision-making. We do community clinic once a week. I'm a GP trainee, I really like that kind of patient interaction. It's nice to be the whole patient journey."

Dr Rachel Bate, Global Health GP trainee from South West working in rural KwaZulu-Natal