

ACCS and Anaesthetic Core Training Teaching Programme

August 2015 to August 2016

ACCS is diverse in that it includes acute medicine, emergency medicine and anaesthetic training. The HEEOE deanery is also geographically diverse and regional training days have been separated by sectors for delivery of some teaching.

This programme has been designed to aid both ACCS and Core Anaesthetic trainees to plan their study days.

In ACCS CT1, all trainees, independent of their parent specialty, will attend the deanery-wide generic ACCS training days. These tend to have an emergency medicine and acute medicine focus, although some anaesthetic teaching may also be covered.

In ACCS CT2 and CT3, Anaesthetic stream trainees will attend anaesthetic teaching, which is delivered on a regional basis, according to the sectors listed below. These sessions are also delivered for direct-stream Anaesthetic CT1 and CT2 trainees. Emergency medicine and acute medicine trainees are welcome to attend these sessions in addition to their generic teaching days, if study leave and local departmental arrangements allow.

ACCS CT2 and CT3, Emergency Medicine and Acute Medicine stream trainees will continue to attend the deanery-wide generic ACCS training days. Anaesthetic trainees are welcome to attend these in addition to their specific anaesthetic training days, if study leave and local departmental arrangements allow.

Additionally, trainees will attend local teaching at their hospitals.
